Art Unit: 1656

Claims 13-15 have been withdrawn by the Examiner because they are in improper form.

Claims 1-12, 16-17 are pending and currently under examination.

Priority: The priority date is May 27, 2003.

Claim Objections

Claims 13-15 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim should refer to other claims in the alternative only. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claims have not been further treated on the merits.

Claim 3 is objected to because of the following informalities: in claim 3, line 5, the term “or” should be replaced with “and”. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 4-5 provide for the use of an isolated extract of deer velvet, but, since the claim does not set forth any steps involved in the method/process, it is unclear what method/process applicant is intending to encompass. A claim is indefinite where it merely recites a use without any active, positive steps delimiting how this use is actually practiced.

Claims 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a use, without setting forth any steps involved in the process, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd.App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-12, 16-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites an isolated extract of deer velvet which contains components which have molecular weights that are substantially less than or equal to 10 kDa. Since there is no lower limit to the MW, it does not make sense to have components having a molecular weight of 0 kDa. Also, claim 1 and its dependent claims recite "proliferative effect." It is unclear what a "proliferative effect" is.

The term "substantially" in claims 1, 3 is a relative term which renders the claim indefinite. The term "substantially" is not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention.

The language used in claim 3, line 3 is confusing and should be rewritten. Further, it is unclear how claim 3 distinguishes over claim 2, i.e. the limitations recited in claim 3 should be inherently present in claims 1 and 2.

Regarding claim 6, it is unclear how free amino acids, lipids, or carbohydrates have a proliferative effect on endothelial cells.

Claim 7 recites an isolated extract of deer velvet which contains at least one component present in the extract of claim 1. Claim 1 recites an isolated extract of deer velvet which contains components. It is unclear how claim 7 further limits claim 1.

Similarly, claim 8 recites at least one peptide present in the extract of claim 2. Claim 2 recites the components are peptides. It is unclear how claim 8 further limits claim 2.

Claims 2, 4-6, 9-12, 16-17 are included in this rejection because they are dependent on the above claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-12, 16-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Weng et al. (2001 Acta Pharmaceutica Sinica 36(11): 817-820; IDS 09.13.07). Weng et al. teach velvet antler polypeptides (TVAP) accelerated skin wound healing by stimulating proliferation of epidermal cells (p. 1 of translation). Weng et al. teach an ointment containing 0.8 and 3.2 mg TVAP/g body weight accelerated healing of a rat back skin wound (p. 1-2; claims 1-3, 6-11, 16). Weng et al. teach 16 and 4 mg TVAP was added into 5 g of an ointment base made of sheep wool lotion, vaseline, and water (p. 2; claims 4-5). Weng et al. further teach the TVAP ointment was applied topically on the wound of the rat every other day at a dose of 50 mg/time/rat within 20 days (p. 2; claims 12, 17).

Double Patenting

A rejection based on double patenting of the "same invention" type finds its support in the language of 35 U.S.C. 101 which states that "whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process ... may obtain a patent therefor ..." (Emphasis added). Thus, the term "same invention," in this context, means an invention drawn to identical subject matter. See Miller v. Eagle Mfg. Co., 151 U.S. 186 (1894); In re Ockert, 245 F.2d 467, 114 USPQ 330 (CCPA 1957); and In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970).

A statutory type (35 U.S.C. 101) double patenting rejection can be overcome by canceling or amending the conflicting claims so they are no longer coextensive in scope. The filing of a terminal disclaimer cannot overcome a double patenting rejection based upon 35 U.S.C. 101.

Applicant is advised that should claims 1, 2, 4, 6, 9-10 be found allowable, claims 3, 5, 7, 8, 11, 16 will be objected to under 37 CFR 1.75 as being a substantial duplicate thereof. When two claims in an application are duplicates or else are so close in content that they both cover the same thing, despite a slight difference in wording, it is proper after allowing one claim to object to the other as being a substantial duplicate of the allowed claim. See MPEP § 706.03(k).

No claim is allowed.
